Representative Payment Under Titles II, VIII and XVI of the Social Security Act

AGENCY: Social Security Administration.
ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: We are amending our rules governing how we investigate representative payee applicants. Under these rules, any payee who previously satisfied the payee investigation criteria, including a face-to-face interview, and currently serves as a payee generally need not appear for another face-to-face interview when subsequently applying to become a payee unless we determine within our discretion, that a new face-to-face interview is necessary. The payee applicant would still be required to satisfy the rest of the investigation process as set forth in the regulations. Reducing the number of subsequent face-to-face interviews of payee applicants will streamline our representative payee application process, allowing payee applicants to become qualified more quickly when they already serve as a payee. This rule also will expedite payment of benefits in certain representative payee situations and reduce the burden on our field office employees by eliminating the necessity of interviewing such payee applicants.

DATES: This rule will be effective on December 10, 2008.

The electronic file of this document is available on the date of publication in the Federal Register at <http://www.gpoaccess.gov/fr/index.html>.

Background

We select a representative payee for certain persons eligible for Social Security benefits under title II of the Social Security Act (the Act), special veterans benefits (SVB) under title VIII of the Act, or supplemental security income under title XVI of the Act. See sections 205(j), 807, and 1631(a)(2) of the Act. We select a representative payee if we believe that payment through a payee rather than direct payment of benefits is in the interest of that beneficiary. Subpart U of part 404, subpart F of part 408, and subpart F of part 416 of our regulations explain the procedures we follow when determining whether to make representative payment and in selecting a representative payee under the title II, VIII and XVI programs.

Our current rules at 20 CFR 404.2024 and 416.624 require that, before selecting an individual or organization to act as a person's representative payee, we will investigate the payee applicant to determine the applicant's suitability. Our rule at § 408.624 adopts these investigatory requirements for SVBs by cross-reference to § 404.2024. See sections 205(j)(2), 807(b), and 1631(a)(2)(B) of the Act.

The Act states that to the extent practicable, an investigation shall include a face-to-face interview with a payee applicant. See sections 205(j)(2)(A)(i), 807(b)(1)(A), and 1631(a)(2)(B)(i)(I). Based on this authority, our current rules at §§ 404.2024 and 416.624 indicate that we generally conduct a face-to-face interview with a payee applicant each time they file to become a payee, regardless of whether the payee has previously satisfied the investigation criteria and participated in a face-to-face interview.

The requirement for holding a face-to-face interview may be waived only if conducting the interview is impracticable and would cause undue hardship for the payee applicant such as when a payee applicant would have to travel a great distance to the field office. Our current rules also indicate that we may decide it is impracticable to require subsequent face-to-face interviews for organizational payees that are known by our field office as suitable payees. We base this decision on the organization's past performance, recent contacts, and the organization's knowledge of and compliance with our reporting requirements.

Explanation of Changes

With these final rules, we are eliminating the requirement that we conduct a face-to-face interview before selecting an individual or organization to be a representative payee if we have already conducted a face-to-face interview with that payee and the payee is qualified and currently acting as a payee. However, we retain discretionary authority to require a subsequent face-to-face interview of any payee applicant. We are revising our rules in §§ 404.2024(b) and 416.624(b) to accomplish these changes.

We also have added a new paragraph (c), "Impracticable," to §§ 404.2024 and 416.624. This new paragraph contains the first three sentences of current §§ 404.2024(b) and 416.624(b), with editorial changes. We are not making substantive changes to this text.

Public Comment

In the notice of proposed rulemaking we published in the Federal Register at 73 FR 12923 (March 11, 2008), we provided the public a 60-day period within which to comment on the proposed changes. That comment period ended on May 12, 2008. We received one comment, from an individual who opposed the proposed changes.

Comment: The commenter noted that because the representative payment program removes the beneficiary's right to manage his own benefit payments, we must act with extreme care when determining the need for a payee and in selecting the person or organization that would best serve as a payee. The commenter believed that in order to protect beneficiary rights, we should require all payee applicants to undergo a face-to-face interview every time they apply to be a payee. Accordingly, the commenter asked that we withdraw our proposal to eliminate such a requirement. In the alternative, the commenter suggested that if we adopt these changes, we should consider reviewing the payee's activities with regard to other beneficiaries before waiving subsequent face-to-face interviews.

Response: Although we share the commenter's concern that payees must manage benefits properly, we do not accept the commenter's suggestion to withdraw this rule. Under our current rules, there are nine criteria that must be met before selecting an individual or organization to act as a representative payee. See §§ 404.2024(a) and 416.624(a). Eight of these criteria remain unchanged. We are changing only our requirement regarding subsequent face-to-face interviews for payees who previously satisfied all of our criteria, including a face-to-face interview, and are qualified and currently acting as payees.

Our rules regarding recovery of misused benefits and potential civil monetary penalties remain unchanged and will continue to protect beneficiaries from payee misuse of benefits. As an added protection, we also retain the discretion to perform a subsequent face-to-face interview if we believe one is necessary. Our final rules specifically note that we base the decision concerning the necessity of a subsequent face-to-face interview on the payee's past performance and the payee's knowledge of and compliance with our reporting requirements. Because the final rules provide that we look at the payee's past performance, they address the commenter's concern that we review the payee's activities with regard to other beneficiaries prior to waiving a subsequent face-to-face interview. Additionally, our existing rules at §§ 404.2024(a)(5) and 416.624(a)(5) require that we determine whether the payee applicant has previously served as a representative payee and whether any previous appointment as a payee was terminated for misuse. Thus, we made no changes from the rules we proposed.

Regulatory Procedures

Executive Order 12866, as Amended

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) determined that the final rules meet the criteria for a significant regulatory action under Executive Order 12866, as amended. Thus, OMB reviewed these final rules.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

We certify that these final rules will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities as they affect only individuals. Therefore, a regulatory flexibility analysis as provided in the Regulatory Flexibility Act, as amended, is not required.

Paperwork Reduction Act

These final rules impose no reporting or recordkeeping requirements subject to OMB clearance.

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is amending the classification regulation for condoms to designate a special control for male condoms made of natural rubber latex (latex). The special control for the device is the guidance document entitled "Class II Special Controls Guidance Document: Labeling for Natural Rubber Latex Condoms Classified Under 21 CFR 884.5300." The FDA will publish a notice in the Federal Register announcing the availability of the special control guidance document no later than the effective date of this final rule.

DATES: Effective Date: This rule is effective January 9, 2009.

Compliance Dates: Premarket notification submissions (510(k)s) for latex condoms filed on or after the effective date of this rule are expected to comply with the requirement of special controls at the time that the 510(k) is submitted. Latex condoms cleared for marketing on or after the effective date of the rule but submitted in 510(k)s filed before the effective date of the rule are expected to comply with the requirement of special controls on or before March 10, 2009. Latex condoms legally marketed before the effective date of this rule are expected to comply with the requirement of special controls December 10, 2009. I. Background

In the Federal Register of November 14, 2005 (70 FR 69102), FDA proposed to amend existing classification regulations to designate a labeling guidance document as the special control for condoms made of natural rubber latex (latex condoms), classified under 21 CFR 884.5300, and latex condoms with spermicidal lubricant containing nonoxynol-9 (N-9), classified under § 884.5310 (21 CFR 884.5310). As proposed, the final rule amends § 884.5300 (21 CFR 884.5300) and designates a guidance document containing labeling recommendations as the special control for latex condoms. However, FDA continues to review the comments it received in response to its general and specific requests for comment on latex condoms with spermicidal lubricant and to evaluate the controls appropriate for condoms with spermicidal lubricant (§ 884.5310). Therefore, FDA is not issuing a final rule on that device at this time.¹

In the following sections of this preamble, FDA addresses the statutory framework, regulatory history, and scientific information related to latex condoms; summarizes the final rule; and responds to the comments on FDA's designation of special controls for the latex condom.

A. Statutory Framework

The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the act) (21 U.S.C. 301 et seq.), as amended, including the Medical Device Amendments of 1976 (the 1976

¹ On December 19, 2007, FDA published a final rule, codified at 21 CFR 201.66(c)(5)(ii)(H) and 21 CFR 201.325, that requires that labeling of OTC vaginal contraceptive/spermicidal drug products containing N-9 bear the following warnings:

- For vaginal use only
- Not for rectal (anal) use
- Sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) alert: This product does not protect against HIV/AIDS or other STDs and may increase the risk of getting HIV from an infected partner
- Do not use if you or your sex partner has HIV/AIDS. If you do not know if you or your sex partner is infected, choose another form of birth control.
- When using this product you may get vaginal irritation (burning, itching, or a rash)
- Stop use and ask a doctor if you or your partner get burning, itching, a rash or other irritation of the vagina or penis

Other information in the new labeling includes:

- When used correctly every time you have sex, latex condoms greatly reduce, but do not eliminate the risk of catching or spreading HIV, the virus that causes AIDS.
- Studies have raised safety concerns that products containing the spermicide nonoxynol 9 can irritate the vagina and rectum. Sometimes this irritation has no symptoms. This irritation may increase the risk of getting HIV/AIDS from an infected partner.

• You can use nonoxynol 9 for birth control with or without a diaphragm or condom if you have sex with only one partner who is not infected with HIV and who has no other sexual partners or HIV risk factors

• Use a latex condom without nonoxynol 9 if you or your sex partner has HIV/AIDS, multiple sex partners, or other HIV risk factors

• Ask a health professional if you have questions about your best birth control and STD prevention methods.
