

Resource Guide for Individual Hurricane Maria Evacuees

This guide is for Households with no family members under the age of 18

Dear Hurricane Maria Evacuee,

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Transitional Shelter Assistance (TSA) program and the Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency (MEMA)/Red Cross hotel placement program will both close on June 30, 2018. Individual adults (in households with no children under age 18) who are currently placed in hotels under these programs will need to secure alternative housing or shelter effective July 1, 2018.

Individuals are encouraged to contact family or friends who could provide shelter or housing support. If you are unable to live with a family member or a friend, you may contact the following homeless shelters (attached). For help with housing search, you can contact your local Hurricane Maria Re-Housing Provider (list attached). In addition, transitional housing funds will be available through the Massachusetts Evacuee Transitional Assistance Reserve initiative (METAR). This resource can be used to pay for such things as first/last month rent, security deposit, moving expenses, furniture and a short term rental stipend. Other resources for elders, veterans and others are also attached below.

If you wish to return to Puerto Rico, airfare transportation is available, both through FEMA for TSA households and the Commonwealth for current Red Cross placements. Please dial “2-1-1” for more information on the transportation program. Additional non-housing supports may also be available by contacting your local Family Resource Center at www.frcma.org or call “2-1-1” for more information.

*Guía de recursos
para desplazados por el huracán María*

Esta guía es para Hogares sin miembros de la familia menores de 18 años de edad

Estimado/a desplazado/a por el huracán María:

Tanto el Programa de Asistencia de Alojamiento Transitorio (TSA) de la Agencia Federal para el Manejo de Emergencias (FEMA) y como el Programa de ubicación en hoteles de la Cruz Roja/Agencia de Gestión de Emergencias de Massachusetts (MEMA) cerrarán el 30 de junio del 2018. Las personas adultas (en hogares sin niños menores de 18 años de edad) que actualmente están alojadas en hoteles con estos programas deberán asegurarse vivienda o refugio alternativos a partir del 1 de julio del 2018.

Se alienta a las personas a que se comuniquen con familiares y amigos que podrían proveerles apoyo de refugio o vivienda. Si usted no puede vivir con un familiar o un amigo, podría comunicarse con los siguientes refugios para desamparados (ver adjunto). Para obtener ayuda con la búsqueda de vivienda, usted puede comunicarse en su región con su Proveedor de reubicación por el huracán María (Hurricane Maria Re-Housing Provider, ver lista adjunta). Además, habrá disponibles fondos para vivienda transitoria por medio de la iniciativa del Fondo de asistencia transicional para desplazados (METAR, Evacuee Transitional Assistance Reserve de Massachusetts). Este recurso puede usarse para pagar por cosas como primer y último mes del alquiler, depósito de seguridad, gastos de mudanza, muebles y como un estipendio de alquiler de corto plazo. Otros recursos para personas mayores, veteranos y otras personas también se adjuntan a continuación.

Si usted desea regresar a Puerto Rico, hay pagos para transporte aéreo disponibles, tanto a través de FEMA para hogares del programa TSA como del Commonwealth para los alojados por la Cruz Roja. Por favor marque "2-1-1" para obtener más información sobre el programa de transporte. También podría haber disponibles apoyos adicionales que no sean de vivienda comunicándose con su Centro de Recursos Familiares local en www.frcma.org o llame al "2-1-1" para obtener más información.
