If there is a reasonable assurance a claimant with school employment in the base period will return to the same or a similar position in the next academic year or term or at the end of a customary vacation period, base period wages earned in that position or a similar position will be excluded from the monetary calculation used to establish a Weekly Benefit Amount for the week(s) the claimant is on “break”. The fact finding must include details of positions and dates worked for all base period employers who have been identified as school employers. The wage exclusion can be all of the wages or some of the wages earned and in the base period quarters.

Determination Text

Rationale:

Ineligible - Has Other Base Period Wages - Opportunity to Perform Services - Between Academic Years

Reasonings and Findings:

It has been established that you have performed services during the most recent academic year or term and there is a contract or a reasonable assurance that you will perform services for an educational institution during the next academic year or term. Therefore you may not receive a benefit based on wages earned working for an educational institution for weeks commencing during the period between these academic years or terms.

Additional Reasonings and Findings to be printed on the determination:

Effect of the Determination:

Inasmuch as you have sufficient other base period wages earned working for other than an educational institution to meet the eligibility requirements of M. G. L. chapter 151A, s. 24 (a), you qualify for a benefit based on those earnings for weeks commencing during the period between academic years or terms. You are eligible to receive benefits based on wages earned working for other than an educational institution at a weekly rate of [&LAVBenefitRate] for the period

Unemployment Insurance Law:

Massachusetts General Law Chapter 151A, §28A (a), (b), (c)

If the adjudicator determines the claimant has a reasonable assurance of performing the services of one of the base period employers in the next term or semester UI Online allows us to exclude all or part of the wages for base period employers:
